Once the Forbes family private retreat, today Laucala Island is a hideaway where guests expect, and get, over-the-top luxury and service. Everything — from play on the 18-hole championship golf course to scuba diving coral-rich reefs, a spa treatment and horseback riding on the beach led by a horse whisperer — is included. Guests stay in 25 villas, elegant versions of traditional Fiji dwellings, spread around the 3,200-acre property. Residences come with a nanny, a chauffeur and food and beverage service.
